Helpful Hints

From What's a Hostess to Do? by Susan Spungen

What is important is to remember that the crucial thing about any gathering is the people and the interaction and the conversation that happen around the table (or picnic blanket, for that matter). So, the bottom line is, even if you don't have awesome cooking skills, a beautiful home, and lovely tableware, you can still throw an outstanding party. You want your guests to feel that they have connected and you have the feeling of pure satisfaction, because you have created it all while raising dollars for Molly's fund Fighting Lupus.

- Coddle your guests. Make them feel comfortable and welcome. Let people know you are thinking about them. Special drink? Special Dish? Chinese slippers?
- Plan ahead. You should have little sweat on your brow when your guests arrive. Can any of your dishes be made ahead of time?
- Less can be more. A few well conceived, well prepared dishes will go over big. Keep it simple and you'll be ready when it's time to have fun.
- When the party starts, be in it. You want to enjoy the party with your guests. They came to see you!
- Keeping sane. Make it ahead. Cook what you know. No one wants a frantic or absent chef!
- An apron is your best accessory. They are crucial! Save your outfit. Invest in a cute short apron for serving drinks and snacks and retire the one you wore while doing the true dirty work.
- Setting the scene takes little time. Do this with lighting, music, special cocktail? It can be as formal or informal as you like.

Three Cocktails Everyone Should Know

BY SUSAN SPUNGEN

Martini

As the story goes, this drink was originally called the Martinez, for the California town where it was the first mixed in the late 1800s. The martini is a perennial favorite, always glamorous and always served ice-cold. Keep the gin in the freezer, and the glasses, too.

Combine 2 ounces gin and a dash of extra-dry vermouth in an ice-filled cocktail shaker and shake or stir. Strain into a chilled martini glass and garnish with an olive or a lemon twist.

A Dirty Martini includes a dash of olive juice.

Cosmopolitan

It may be as overexposed as Samantha in Sex in The City, but, like the TV show, the cosmo, a pink combination of vodka, cranberry juice, and Triple Sec is a crowd pleaser and can't be ignored. It is often embellished with flavor du jour.

Combine 1 1/2 ounces vodka, 1/2 ounce Triple Sec or Cointreau, 1 tablespoon cranberry juice, and the juice of 1/2 lime in an ice-filled cocktail shaker. Shake and strain into a chilled martini glass.

Margarita

If you choose to make margaritas at home, COMMIT to the following: Freshly squeezed lime juice only, and Cointreau rather than triple Sec. Your guests will thank you.

Combine 2 ounces of tequila, 1 ounce Cointreau, and 2 tablespoons freshly squeezed lime juice in an ice-filled cocktail shaker. Shake and serve straight up in a margarita glass. Salt the rims of the glasses or not as your guests prefer.

ABOUT MOLLY'S FUND FIGHTING LUPUS

It is our mission at Molly's Fund Fighting Lupus to EDUCATE the public and to INFORM the medical community about lupus, to ADVOCATE for earlier life-saving diagnosis, to SUPPORT people living with lupus and to COLLABORATE with government and foundations to fund research toward a cure. We strive to do this through services and programs addressing the needs of lupus sufferers everywhere.

Our public awareness activities reach millions of people each year, highlighting the need for expanded research and improved care for those living with lupus. In the coming years we look forward to continuing these efforts and implementing many new programs and services, including the creation of a Center of Excellence for specialized treatment of lupus sufferers. But we can't do it without you.

Ultimately our fight is for a cure. Join our fight. Fight + Fun = Finding A Cure. What a great recipe! There are never too many chefs in our kitchen. Have a dinner, donate, sponsor an event or program. The dinner bell is ringing. Will you answer the call?
